Nebraska Producer Wins Polaris RANGER

A couple days before Thanksgiving, Sargent, Neb., farm couple Ron and Deb Hansen took home a new Polaris RANGER XP. Ron won the Polaris after entering the Farm Progress Win a Polaris RANGER Drawing at the 2006 Husker Harvest Days in Grand Island, Neb.

Polaris Industries and Farm Progress Cos. sponsored the drawing entered by thousands of readers across the country and farmers attending Farm Progress' farm shows, Farm Progress Show, Husker Harvest Days and Farm Progress Hay Expo.

While picking up his new machine from Kevin Hilder at Hilder Implement in Central City, Neb., Ron and Deb said they have plenty of uses planned for the RANGER. First on their agenda was monitoring cattle and fences. They were particularly pleased with the RANGER's box that can be tilted up to unload grain, bales, dirt or whatever bulk load they carry.

It will also be quite functional, since the rugged off-road, four-wheel-drive utility vehicle has a powerful 40-hp engine, automatic transmission, 50-mph top speed, 1,500-pound payload capacity and a 1,750-pound towing capacity. It also has many off-road features for sports and recreation use.

"It will be a good fencing vehicle, too," Ron says, as he reviewed the vehicle's carrying capacity.

He also envisions either mounting a spray tank in the box or towing a small sprayer to apply herbicides to thistles and other problem pasture weeds.

The Polaris RANGER served as the 2006 Official Farm Progress Off-Road Vehicle. Polaris provided a fleet of RANGERS for staff use at Farm Progress' shows. The RANGER's power and rugged features provided the hard-working versatility needed to handle all the shows' challenging field conditions. Polaris RANGER the Hardest Working, Smoothest Riding Off-Road Utility Vehicle.

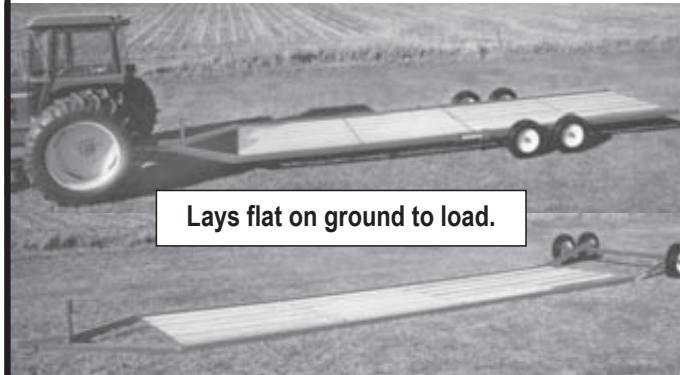

Ron and Deb Hansen won a new Polaris RANGER XP in the 2006 Farm Progress Polaris RANGER Drawing.
