

Control. It's a beautiful thing.
Especially in your fields.

Keeping things under your control can make a big difference. Especially when it comes to weeds in your wheat and barley. Thankfully, there is Axial® XL, now with a new all-in-one formulation for superior, broad-spectrum control of mixed annual grasses. And it provides flexible tank mix options as well as excellent crop safety. All that, plus the widest window of application out there makes Axial XL the kind of control you're looking for.
