

What's New on the Web By Willie Vogt

Web space offers tech updates

KEEPING track of new products isn't easy, from new tools that make your operation more efficient to the latest in fun gear for the farm like pickup trucks.

You can keep up on what's going on quickly and easily. Just visit www.PrairieFarmer.com and click on

Every week we're posting new information on products and services you'll find of value, so check out what we have to offer.

Did you hear about a new tractor? Are you looking for information on a super new sprayer? Check out What's New today.

In addition, the "Quick links" list includes a range of other features and services from livestock news to special events for your market. They're worth a look, too.

Our idea of precision farming covers a lot of new ground.

Changes in farming don't take place overnight. But day after day our guidance systems are helping more farmers feed the world with efficiencies that past generations never imagined.

Building on that success, Trimble brings you a new line of application control products that cut costs and improve field management.

While others promise, we deliver. Giving you control options like automatic individual row and boom shutoffs, variety tracking, and prescription variable rate applications for up to four products.

You control all these and more on a simple touch screen, with all types and models of equipment, and within the tightest budget.
