

Does a plant realize it has a critical role in feeding billions of people? Probably not.
It is, after all, a plant.

That's where we come in. At Syngenta,
Bringing plant potential to life is our purpose.
And meeting the demands of a growing population means getting the most we can from each plant and every acre.
By guarding crops against insects, weeds and disease,
your plants stay protected all season and the world's food and feed supply does, too.

syngenta