

THE SOYBEAN INSULATION OF TOMORROW SPRAYED TODAY

If you knew an energy enhancement would add $10 per month to your mortgage, but you would save $50 per month on utilities, would you use it?

-Iowa Foam Insulators can save you money with foam in your homes everywhere from your attic, walls, sills, and basement crawl spaces to your shop and livestock buildings. Anywhere you want to save money with foam

-Iowa Foam Insulation stops air infiltration by expanding to fill cracks and gaps where standard insulation is ineffective. It forms an airtight, weather-resistant bond that effectively seals drafts.

-Conserve Energy: Heating and cooling account for 50-70% of the energy used in an average home, shop or livestock building . . . inadequate insulation and air leakage are leading causes of energy waste. Even fiberglass insulation may leave gaps around window frames, pipes, vents and other areas that permit air leakage. Iowa Foam actually outperforms fiberglass insulation; it air-seals the building, conserving energy. The result – lowered heating/cooling bills.

-Support Midwest Farmers: Iowa Foam is made from soybean oil, an annually renewable resource. This soybean oil is produced by over 600,000 farmers, right here in the U.S. The use of this environmentally friendly raw material in Iowa Foam Insulation replaces petroleum ingredients. Iowa Foam is committed to sustainability and sees conserving energy in the built environment as well as continually increasing the bio-content of our products as a major driver in reducing our country's dependence on FOREIGN FOSSIL FUELS.
