

The same is true with seed traits.

When you have options that give you just what you need, why buy extra? You want choices, not a “one size fits all” product — especially if it’s stacked with more than you need. Using traits on an as-needed, field-by-field basis makes sense agronomically and financially. It’s also a responsible use of technology.

Your Pioneer sales professional will help you maximize each field’s productivity with local advice and the choices you need in unique genetics and proven traits. That makes Pioneer the company you can trust to deliver with our Right Product. Right Acre.<sup>SM</sup> seed selection to help you succeed.
